Regional Sturgeon
Co-ordinator

"I started to work for WWF right after graduating from University where I studied Zoology with a focus on behavioural sciences. With WWF Austria I held almost every possible position from Intern to Conservation Director and Deputy CEO.

The opportunity to work as WWF's Network Sturgeon Initiative Leader brought me back to concrete conservation issues.

I am glad I can support WWF's work on sturgeon conservation as we need to ensure that these fish, on our planet for more than 250 million years, do not go extinct."
